Manuscript Format

1. General

Manuscripts should be submitted to the appropriate Continental Editors:

Papers must be written in English and non-English-speaking authors should have their papers checked for linguistic accuracy by a native English speaker.

To accelerate publication, one set of manuscript is sent to one of the Continental Editor in your choice. It is therefore essential that manuscripts be submitted in their final form and that the positions of figures and tables be indicated in the manuscript.

2. Format

Manuscripts should be typed double-spaced with wide margins in "Microsoft Word". They should follow the format: title page listing the title, names of all authors in full spelling, institutions with full address, and address of the corresponding author to whom correspondence should be sent; Abstract of not more than 250 words, stating the main problem, methods, results, and conclusions; Key words (up to 6); text, arranged in the order; Introduction, Materials and method, Results, Discussion, Acknowledgements; References; tables; legends for all figures listed together on a separate page; figures.

Small print. Materials and methods and sections of lesser importance should be marked for small print.

Footnotes should be avoided whenever possible. Essential footnotes should be numbered consecutively and placed at the bottom of the page to which they refer.

3. Tables

Each table should be sent in "Microsoft Word" or "Microsoft Excel" with separate page (s) and numbered consecutively with Arabic numerals. Footnotes to tables should be indicated by lower-case superscript letters.

4. Illustrations

Illustrations should be limited to those essential for the text. The same results should be presented as either graphs or tables, not as both.

Requests for color illustrations cannot be approved unless the authors bear the additional costs of reproduction.

All figures, whether photographs, graphs, or diagrams, should be sent in "JPEG" numbered consecutively and kept separate from text. The editorial office publisher reserves the right to reduce or enlarge illustrations. Photographs should be submitted as sharp, trimmed at right angles. Arrows, letters and numbers should be inserted with template rub-on letters.

Legends must be brief, self-sufficient explanations of the illustrations. Remarks such as "For explanation, see text" should be avoided. The legends should be typed on a separate page.

5. Offprints

The offprints of each paper are supplied with certain charge provided the order is received with the corrected proofs.
