Use double spacing throughout with 12 points font, including title page, abstract, text, acknowledgements, references, tables, and legends for illustrations. Key words

Within 4 key words should be listed below the abstract for indexing purposes.

Table and Illustrations

Prepare each table with its title as a separate file. Use Arabic numerals to number tables. Each table must stand alone –i.e., contain all necessary information in the caption, and the table itself must be understood independently of the text. Details of experimental conditions should be included in the table footnotes. Information that appears in the text should not be repeated in a table, and tables should not contain data that can be given in the text in one or two sentences. In principle, color photographs are not acceptable.

References

The Vancouver system of referencing should be used (example are given below). In the text, references should be cited using superscript Arabic numerals in the order in which they appear. If cited in tables or figure legends, number according to the first identification of the table or figure in the text. Names of journals should be abbreviated in the style used in Index Medicus. Authors are responsible for the accuracy of the references.

Journal papers : Mikamo H, Kawazoe K, Sato Y, et al. : Preterm labor and bacterial intra-amniotic infection : arachidonic acid liberation by phospholipase A2 of Prevotella bivia. Anaerobe 1998 ; 4 : 209-212.

Books : Thielman NM, Wilson KH. Antibiotic-associated colitis (chapter 96). In : Mandell GL, Bennett JE, Dolin R, eds. Mandell, Douglas, and Bennetts Principles and Practice of Infectious Diseases. 7th ed. Philadelphia : Elsevier Churchill Livingstone, 2010 ; 1375-1388.

When a citation has more than four authors, list the first three and use “et al.” If it is necessary to cite an abstract, this should be designated. Abbreviations of journal titles should follow MEDLINE. Authors are responsible for the accuracy of the references, and are reminded that inaccurate references are highly frustrating to the reader, the cited authors, and indexing services. Within the text, citations should be identified by numbers in brackets, and the list of references at the end of the paper should be numbered by order of citation. Ensure that issue numbers are omitted from the reference citation. Only works referred to in the text and already accepted for publication can be included.
